What's New In DBGet?

Get is a Schema Browser and SQL Editor for Sybase, Oracle, SQL Server & IBM DB2 databases. Get is a tool that integrates with the object explorer, presenting a summary of the database schema and tables within the object explorer. It can work in two ways: (1) as a Schema browser displaying the database schema and (2) as a SQL editor supporting SQL syntax highlighting for input and execution. On the SQL Editor tab, the editor can be set up to automatically display generated SQL for you or you can simply enter SQL directly. With SQL Assistant (users can view execution plan for a query, copy SQL for execution, create SQL scripts and view SQL errors. Version 1.0.5 is a bugfix release. Bugfixes: - 137422 - [schema compare] does not work well on high-dimensional indexes in SQL 2008 - 136420 - [sqla assistant] "copy" for query is not copy (because it is cut) Changes: - Changes to app.ini to make it more flexible. Dover police responded at 10:40 a.m. Wednesday to a home in the 800 block of State Road, in the Dover Downs area. A Dover officer found the 59-year-old with a self-inflicted gunshot wound. The officer found a prescription bottle containing 50 pills. Dover police Detective Chris Davis said authorities are still trying to determine if the man used his own name or the name of the man in the house. A preliminary investigation shows that the person found in the house was the same man who was found dead at another home earlier in the week. Davis said police don't know if the two cases are connected
