I grew up in the deep South in a house full of northern transplants. My parents were transplants themselves - my dad a New Yorker from Ohio who was otherwise a devout southerner, while my mom, a native of Michigan, was a natural southerner. So I grew up with a good balance of northern and southern culture. But I have always been a little confused when I hear people, especially southern ones, talk about northern culture. It's not that I don't like northern culture, but in a way, when I see or hear people from the north they talk about culture in a way that makes me uncomfortable. I grew up with a good balance of northern and southern culture. Southern culture doesn't suddenly become northern when transplanted. It's still southern and will still have those aspects that make you uneasy and that put you on the defensive. There are good northern traits, good southern traits, and bad northern traits as well as bad southern traits. Don't ever try to paint with a broad brush. Good southern traits: learn and talk how to make gravy, be really really nice to strangers, don't be late, don't be rude to anyone because everyone deserves respect, manners are important. Good northern traits: do it right the first time so there is no need to ask questions, people are more interested in your business than you, don't be late. Bad southern traits: think

.Boehner was a problematic player for Reid, having already been criticized by the top Democrat on the Senate Intelligence Committee in March over a draft report on the committee's investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 election. Reid and Boehner have two different approaches on how to handle Russian election interference, the Idaho lawmaker said. "Boehner and I are on different pages," Reid said. "He's an old-fashioned conservative. I am a bipartisan person, I have been on both sides of the aisle." The Senate Democratic leader, known for his genteel manner and polite conversation, is known as a bully, and he doesn't think Republicans are mentally tough, Reid said. "I don't think you've seen anything yet from the other side," he said, citing those who are dismissive of the Russian interference, an issue Reid said is taken as gospel by his Senate Democratic colleagues.Q: Combinatorial optimization in a Boolean matrix (0.936%) Given a matrix \$A\$ where all elements are equal to 0.01, and you are allowed to change the values to any combination except \$0\$ or \$1\$. How do you find the best way to change the values in \$A\$? Examples: 1) We can either change \$1\$ to \$0\$ or change \$0\$ to \$1\$. 2) We can change \$1\$ or \$0\$ to \$0\$. 3) We can change \$1\$ or \$1\$ to \$1\$ or \$0\$. 4)... A sample matrix would look like this:  $A = [0.01 \ 0.01 \ 0.01 \ 0.01 \dots \ 0.01 \ 0.01]$  I would love to find out which combination of changed values allows us to get the lowest value of "a percentage of 0.936". I tried this:

import numpy as np
matrix = np.array([[0.01 for i in range(1000)]])
a = matrix - 1
for i in range(100):
    for j in range(1000):
        combination = np.logical_or(a[i,j],a[i,j+1],a[i,j-1])
        if sum(combination
```
