FIFA is the world's leading football franchise. Created by Electronic Arts, and launched in 1994, the franchise has sold over 300 million copies since its inception and the FIFA series is now part of EA SPORTS BIG.

- Succinct: With FIFA, football is the purest, most physical of sports, allowing players to make dynamic plays, control their opponents, and build attacks. It provides a high skill ceiling and a massive real-world playing field where anything is possible. FIFA also provides the unique combination of authentic and licensed player and team experience, all enhanced by the power and realism of video game technology.
- On Your Feet: A player's success is measured by his ability to collect, maintain and use possession. A game of football is a fluid, full-speed exercise in tactical movement. With hundreds of heading options and customization, FIFA is about thinking and doing at the highest level. Whether it's shooting, faking, running, heading, dribbling, passing or playing defense, a football game must be played as a game.
- Long Shots: By inviting players to overcome the confines of the playing field to see over the bar, through the back door or around the keeper, FIFA has created a game of soccer that makes every shot count. At nearly every level of the game, FIFA provides various means to make a shot count.
- Rhythm: The heartbeat of football, rhythm is the complex interplay between unpredictable defense and offense, turns and counter-turns, change of possession, anticipation and pattern-recognition. In FIFA, a player must be constantly on his or her toes, ensuring each touch is precise.
- Realism: Each game has hundreds of players, referees and officials - in addition to thousands of licensed players and teams - all executing the rules of the real game of football. FIFA is built on an authentic sporting foundation, ensuring the right experience for players.
- Speed: FIFA is a highly-active sport played at speeds that the human eye can barely fathom. The human mind can't possibly take in information as quickly as the mind of a football player, and some of the greatest players in the world can interpret the game visually faster than the electronic sensors in EA SPORTS FIFA 22.
- Complexity: FIFA is one of the most complex sports games ever developed, and a player's success in the real game of football can only be achieved by
