Development began in January, with a development team that included veteran FIFA developers from the original FIFA series, technology experts at both EA Sports and DICE, as well as data scientists and biomechanic engineers from EA Canada, DICE and more. "We have a vision for FIFA 22 that I think is a fresh, new, unexpected experience that sets the bar for what fans can expect from an EA Sports football game," said Peter Moore, senior vice president, EA Sports. "When we started, we laid the foundation. We said we were going to learn a lot from the original FIFA franchise, and we did. Now we are honing in on what makes an EA Sports football game fun – fast, fluid, fun and intense! Our data scientists and our creative team are helping the development team to design and deliver a realistic football experience, with a particular focus on the continuous creation of new AI." "Data science is about finding new ways of making decisions," said David Rutter, senior data scientist on the FIFA team. "That's what we want to do as we approach each new release of FIFA. Whether it's improving AI or simply better gameplay, data science can help us make football better for the game you play. We are using our experience in statistics and artificial intelligence to create a more immersive football game than ever before." New features in FIFA 22: Gameplay-based learning The journey to FIFA 22 began in January with a development team that includes veterans from the original FIFA series and technology experts from EA Sports, DICE and more. But EA learned just as much in the four years since the original FIFA launched, with a single goal in mind: FIFA 22 must be the most authentic football experience ever. To do so, the FIFA development team had to understand the game from the inside out. They interviewed the best footballers they could find and analyzed the data in order to create the most accurate and believable experience. They identified areas where FIFA had room to improve in the years since the original game and developed new processes for testing the game on an even larger scale. Seeking to tap into an ever-increasing wealth of data, EA Sports and DICE began experimenting with ways to make the experience better. In the final stages of FIFA 22, the team used HyperMotion technology to make that learning possible. "The most important thing

Features Key:

- World-class gameplay authenticity leads to dynamic and unpredictable gameplay that brings the world's best clubs and players to life in an authentic way. Use world-class intelligence and motion capture-based animations to turn key moments like shots, shots on goal, and passes into what feels like real-life.
- Authentic, high-def likeness of players, coaches, clubs, and infrastructure from all over the world.
- New speed, pace, and dribbling controls dynamically adapt to the player's input.
- Unprecedented live experience of presentations with full-length pre-match and post-match press conferences in which managers and players alike interact with the crowd, make eye-catching announcements, score golden goals, and much more. Also, the press conference audio and cutscenes featuring the English Premier League title winners of the past decade will further immerse you in the true-to-life experience.
- Innovation – Four different skill sets unlock a wide variety of new and enhanced gameplay mechanics that deliver tactical freedom to the players. Dynamic Interplay helps you manipulate players by asking your controller what they're going to do. Coaching and Tactics use what players decide, empowering you to decide the most effective course of action on the pitch.
- New Audio Director is a key feature that allows sounds to be adjusted after gameplay, and it adds an aggressive energy to the player's experience.
- FIFA Yearbook includes a detailed post-season recap of the previous season, new #MainStoryQuotable "Moments" that allow fans to relive the best goals, players, videos, and matches from around the World, and plenty of much-deserved fan acknowledgement from the game's top creators.

EA SPORTS® FIFA delivers the authentic feeling of world-class football, including fast-paced action and accurate finishing with a variety of game play modes. FIFA gameplay is realistic, with powerful new motion-capture animations and advanced matchday weather and crowd conditions. FIFA is the only football franchise that truly feels like the world's top football games. EA SPORTS FIFA today announced the game has sold over 35 million units worldwide, making EA SPORTS FIFA the most successful game franchise in the history of the sports genre. Only Madden NFL® has sold more than FIFA in the United States, with more than 36 million units sold since the franchise began. FIFA is available on platforms including home video game systems, smartphones and tablets, as well as on the Xbox® 360 video game and entertainment system from Microsoft, PlayStation®3 computer entertainment system, and the Wii U™ system from Nintendo, as well as PC, Mac and mobile. The announcement takes place just a day before the world will witness the true unveiling of FIFA on Xbox 360. This year EA SPORTS FIFA will take the game home to eleven new countries. All of the new soccer powerhouses will be represented, with Brazil, Germany, Mexico, France, Argentina, Italy, Portugal, Spain, Uruguay, England, Mexico, and Colombia. "We are thrilled that our passionate fan base continues to grow and is now in more countries than ever before. To have it reach such a milestone in the game's history is a tremendous achievement and it is our goal to continually increase awareness of the FIFA franchise and create new ways for fans to participate in this fantastic sport," said Jeff Brown, senior director, EA SPORTS FIFA. "For the first time in the franchise's history, EA SPORTS FIFA is coming home to eleven of the world's top soccer markets, reaching fans in places such as Germany, England, Mexico, and Brazil." Console Announcements In its second year on the market, the Xbox 360 will see more action than ever before in the history of the FIFA franchise, providing an additional 11 new countries to play in the world's best soccer game. Brazil, Germany, Mexico, France, Argentina, Italy, Portugal, Spain, Uruguay, England, Mexico, and Colombia will be the newest markets to experience EA SPORTS FIFA, with the game being released tomorrow in Brazil, Germany, Mexico, France, Argentina, Italy, Portugal, Spain, Uruguay, England, and Mexico.
