difference, because rosetta stone are the best at what they do. duolingo is well-designed and navigates users efficiently through the app, and it has a very clean and attractive appearance. it also serves up a good amount of video content for users to practice their skills. rosetta stone app has a more distracting, bright, and colorful theme, while rosetta stone total has a lot of menus and submenus. this might be a purely subjective opinion, but its something i like about rosetta stones program. both duolingo and rosetta stone offer free versions of their software, but just to clarify, duolingo has many free badges and trophies to earn, but it doesnt really offer the level of language training that rosetta stone does, although porsz is a similar program. duolingo is designed to be accessible and simple for everyone. it makes learning a language as easy as possible and to accomplish this, it has many easy to use activities that prepare
